INDIAN RETAIL OVERVIEW

The Indian Retail sector has come off age and has gone through major transformation over the last decade with a noticeable shift towards organised retailing. A T Kearney, a US Based global management consulting firm has ranked India as the fourth most attractive nation for retail investment among 30 flourishing markets.

The retail market is expected to reach a whopping Rs. 47 lakh crore by 2016-17, as it expands at a compounded annual growth rate of 15 per cent, according to the an ASSOCHAM' study.

The retail market, (including organised and unorganized retail), was at Rs. 23 lakh crore in 2011-12. According to the study, organised retail, that comprised just seven per cent of the overall retail market in 2011-12, is expected to grow at a CAGR of 24 per cent and attain 10.2 per cent share of the total retail sector by 2016-17.

Retail classification

Retail industry can be broadly classified into two categories namely- organised and unorganized retail.

- Organized retail - Organised traders/retailers, who are licensed for trading activities and registered to pay taxes to the government.
- Unorganized retail – It consists of unauthorized small shops - conventional Kirana shops, general stores, corner shops among various other small retail outlets - but remain as the radiating force of Indian retail industry.

Market Dynamics

In the past few years, Indian Retail sector has seen tremendous growth in the organised segment. Major domestic players have stepped into the retail arena with long-term, ambitious plans to expand their business across verticals, cities and formats.

High consumer spending over the years by the young population (more than 31% of the country is below 14 years) and sharp rise in disposable income are driving the Indian organised retail sector's growth. Even Tier I & Tier II cities and towns are witnessing a major shift in consumer preferences and lifestyles, the result of which, they have emerged as attractive markets for retailers to expand their presence.

The Indian retail sector is highly fragmented and the unorganized sector has around 13 million retail outlets that account for around 95-96% of the total Indian retail industry. However, going forward, the organised sector's growth potential is expected to increase due to globalization, high economic growth, and improved lifestyle. With this the retail sector in India is witnessing rejuvenation as traditional markets make way for new formats such as departmental stores, hypermarkets, supermarkets and specialty stores. The retailing configuration in India is fast developing as shopping malls are increasingly becoming familiar in large cities. When it comes to development of retail space specially the malls, the Tier II cities are no longer behind in the race.

Although the growth potential in the sector is immense, there are obstacles too, that could slow the pace of growth for new entrants. Rigid regulations, high personnel costs, real estate costs, lack of basic infrastructure, and highly competitive domestic retailer groups are some such challenges.

Key drivers of the Indian Retail Industry

- Emergence of nuclear families
- An increase in the double-income households trend
- Large working population
- Reasonable Real estate prices
- Increase in disposable income and customer aspiration
- Demand as well as increase in expenditure for luxury items
- Growing preference for branded products and higher aspirations
- Growing liberalization of the FDI policy in the past decade
- Increasing urbanization,
- Rising affluence amid consumers

Bottlenecks

- A long way to meet international standards
- Lack of efficient supply-chain management
- Lack of required retail space
- No fixed consumption pattern
- Shortage of trained manpower
- Lack of proper infrastructure and distribution channel

Emerging sectors/trends in Indian retailing

Retailing in India is gradually inching its way toward becoming the next boom industry. The whole concept of shopping has altered in terms of format and consumer buying behavior, ushering in a revolution in shopping in India. Modern retail has entered India as seen in sprawling shopping centers, multi-storied malls and huge complexes offer shopping, entertainment and food all under one roof. The Indian retailing sector is at an inflexion point where the growth of organized retailing and growth in the consumption by the Indian population is going to take a higher growth trajectory. The Indian population is witnessing a significant change in its demographics. A large young working population with median age of 24 years, nuclear families in urban areas, along with increasing workingwomen population and emerging opportunities in the services sector are going to be the key growth drivers of the organized retail sector in India.

Within retail, the emerging sectors would be food and grocery, apparel, electronics, e-commerce, fashion and lifestyle.

Incorporation of technology in the organised retail segment has been something to reckon with in the past few years. Use of computers for merchandise planning and management, control of inventory costs and supplies and replenishment of goods done electronically, internal store billing, etc has changed the face of product retailing.

Online retail business is the next gen format which has high potential for growth in the near future. After conquering physical stores, retailers are now foraying into the domain of e-retailing. The retail industry is all set to test waters over the online medium, by selling products through websites. Food and grocery stores comprises the largest chunk of the Indian retail market.

An emerging trend in this segment is the virtual formats where customer orders are taken online through web portals which are delivered at the door step the very same day or the following day. This trend has been catching up with most of the large sized retail chains that have their websites.

The Road Ahead...

The Indian retail market, currently estimated at $490 billion, is project to grow at a compounded annual growth rate of 6 per cent to reach $865 billion by 2023. Modern retail with a penetration of only 5% is expected to grow about six times from the current 27 billion USD to 220 billion USD, across all categories and segments.

Organised Retail is emerging as the new phenomenon in India and despite the slump, the market is growing exponentially. As economic growth brings more of India's people into the consuming classes and organized retail lures more and more existing shoppers, by 2016, more than 300 million shoppers are likely to patronize organized retail chains.

Consumer markets in emerging market economies like India are growing rapidly owing to robust economic growth. India's modern consumption level is set to double within five years to US$ 1.5 trillion from the present level of US$ 750 billion.

Thus, with tremendous potential and huge population, India is set for high growth in consumer expenditure. With India's large 'young' population and high domestic consumption, the macro trends for the sector look favorable.

INDIAN FOOTWEAR INDUSTRY: A PERSPECTIVE

India is standing on the threshold of a retail revolution and witnessing fast changing retail scenario, with footwear market set to experience phenomenal growth in the coming years. The entry of numerous international players has also resulted in providing a significant boost to the Indian footwear market and the demand for Indian footwear will continue to grow in future as well.

At present, Indian footwear industry rank second-largest footwear producer after China. It possess a significant potential with overall market anticipated to grow at a higher CAGR of more than 15% during 2016-18. The market is de-licensed, which further creates expansion opportunities for the production capacities in modern state-of-the-art units.

Consolidating mid-term status by 2020, the potential target for Indian Footwear Industry will equalize consumption pattern of 3-4 pairs. With six/seven years to go, we need to scale our production from current level of 2 billion pairs to nearly 5 billion pairs at a CAGR rate of 30-40%. Additionally, on the strength of raw material available domestically, the large pool of skilled and unskilled manpower, we have all the capability to take this challenge head on.

The success mantras for footwear market in India lies in the core set of privileges existing in the country itself, including low labor cost, skilled working professionals, etc. Indian footwear industry is mainly driven by men's footwear segment, which has been booming with the rise in the purchasing power and the growth of image consciousness among the youngsters. Furthermore, with the rising younger working class population, the demand for formal footwear has also seen significant increase. Whereas, the old-age group demand for medical footwear that offers comfort and health benefits together with high quality. With the maximum population still living in rural areas, the demand for footwear is increasing in these regions. Rising income level of the people and brand awareness has further boosted the demand for premium footwear.

We foresee immense opportunities for increasing trend of online footwear retail market. Shoe manufacturers have gained a sudden upsurge in the retailing of footwear with the rise of e-commerce and the growing trend of online shopping.

Given this backdrop of homogeneous potential it would not be an exaggeration to say that Footwear Sector is today, on engine of incremental growth. With global integration of Indian Industry, rapid change in lifestyle, income growth at bottom of the wealth pyramid, Footwear industry is expected to grow leaps and bounds.
